AWFUL TRAGEDY .- We learn from the Hagerstown News, that on Friday morning a man named Alexander Redman, residing a couple of miles distant from that place, laboring under a deep depression of spirits, first murdered his child, a boy about three years of age, by cutting his head almost entirely off, and afterwards committed suicide by cutting his own throat. He took him to a neighboring thicket for the commission of the

RATIFICATION MEETING.

Agreeably to announcement, the Democracy of have been made by blind Jefferson County assembled at the Court House on Monday, the 19th, and, on motion, A. J. O'-

The object of the Meeting was briefly stated by R. HUME BUTCHER, Esq , who offered the following preamble and resolutions, which were unanimously adopted: Whereas, The Democratic party of Jefferson County, deeply feeling the important issues involved in the approaching Presidential election, and the necessity for united exertion in sustaining the great principles of our party, and rallying to the support of the nominees of the Baltime onvention, do Resolve,

1st. That the nomination of Gen. Lewis Cass. Michigan, for President, has our most hearty approbation; that while we have every proper regard for other distinguished Democratic statesnen, none could have been chosen in whose tants, integrity, and fitness for the station we have greater confidence; none whose public services ave given stronger guaranties of fidelity and paiotism, or whose elevation to the Executive hair will promise greater blessings to the whole ountry, and to the cause of freedom throughout

2d. That the nomination of General William O. Butler of Kentucky, as the candidate for the office of Vice President, bas our cordial and unied approbation-descended from an ancestry rewned in our Revolutionary struggle-himself distinguished Officer of the war of 1812, a gene-Officer in the Mexican War in whose skill and capacity all confide,—a statesman of eminent abilities, a Democrat faithful, consistent, and true, with unbounded pleasure will we battle for him.

4th. That while we unfold our banner with our ciples inscribed upon it, we look in vain for in avowal of any principles by our opp nents,-Nevertheless we believe that they have the same partiality for Federal measures that they have ever evinced since the days of Hamilton; an oppressive Tariff, a National Bank, and all those un warrantable measures, that can only spring from latitudinous construction of the Constitution and their pretended advocacy of a restricted veto, only advocating in other terms, a license to Coperess to enact those federal measures that have become so odious to the people and dangerous to our welfare.

5th. That the diligence of our opponents admonish us, as we love our principles, and would advance the true glory and welfare of our commo: country, to forthwith organize and prepare for the eproaching contest.

On motion the meeting then adjourned for the surpose of hearing a political discussion between Ex-Governor McNutt of Mississippi, on the part of the Democracy, and Anderw Hunter, Esq., the Elector for this district, on the part of the Whigs, at the close of which the following resolution was offered and unanimously adopted by the Democracy.

A JUST REVIEW.

The following article from the "United States Military and Naval Argus" of the city of New York, (of Saturday week.) presents the following co rect views of the qualifications of the man wlo should, in these stirring times, and amid the complicated concerns of this growing nation, be elected the first magistrate of the Republic. Is there one man acquainted with Gen. Taylor-not in the camp, but in council-who can attribute to him guch a character ? Compare him in the cabinet with Gen. THE NEXT PRESIDENT .- Great gatherings both political parties have been held during the past week, and thousands have flocked around the standard of Tammany Hall to hear the orato ry of Benton, Stevenson, Allen, Houston, Bright, Colb, and other distinguished statesmen who accompanied the Hon.
